

AFTERNOON TEA

Afternoon tea originated in England as a light meal typically eaten between 4 pm and 6 pm by the wealthy classes in England in the 1840s. By the end of the 19th century, Afternoon Tea developed into its current form and was observed by both the upper and middle classes. Afternoon Tea is served with a loose tea that is brewed in a teapot and served with finger sandwiches, scones and preserves, as well as cakes and pastries.
